All Change Please!

....or at least that's what seems like is going to happen very soon.

For more than a year, our personal freedoms have been curtailed to keep Covid at bay. It's looking highly likely to change, with ministers proposing to lift many of the remaining restrictions in England on 19th July. The details, set out on Monday, have sparked intense debate, in families, between friends and our patients and team.

Whatever happens later this month, there are many things that the pandemic has brought us over the past 18 months or so- air filtration, video consultations and instructions, pre-appointment medical questionnaires and other remote methods - that are here to stay.

There are others which we are all longing to see the back of - poorer communication from distancing and high level PPE, and poorer appointment availability.

It is important to remember that our practice will be both guided by the best practice standards of our governing associations and YOU - our patients.

There will be many of you longing for the return of a lovely chat with our team members at the practice, along with the hugs and laughter we're so known for, whilst others will still be wishing to wait outside in their car and not quite ready for that "close contact" yet. As some have loathed the wearing of face coverings, which makes communication and emotion more difficult to understand, many will be comforted by the wish to still wear them. We have seen the benefits of the filling out of pre-arrival forms, speeding up the patient flow, but have understood others have struggled with the online forms and will need help.

Our team will be mindful of the above, and this next phase will see us continually adapting our services to provide an experience to you - the patient - which you feel comfortable with: you want a hug, when we can, we'll be happy to give you one; you want to wear a mask, no worries - we'll all pop one on.

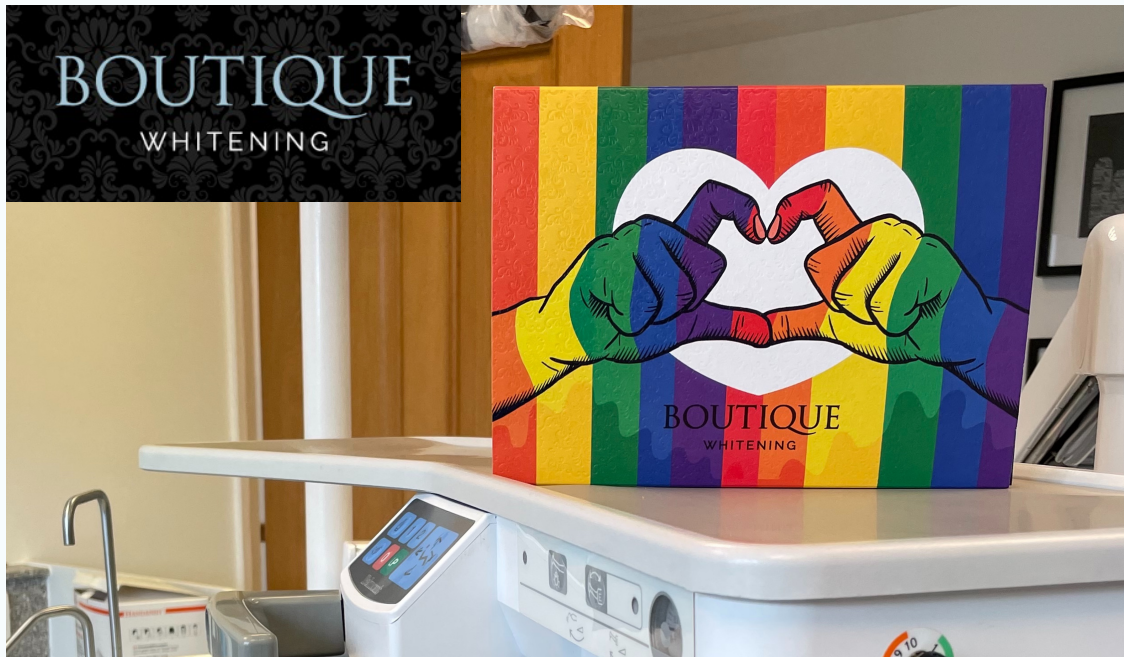

Whatever happens it's important to remember, as a community, we get through this next chapter together- happily, helpfully and healthily.

With Warm and (still virtual) Hugs!

I recently had an appointment with Mrs Jignasha Patel and was truly amazed by the professional and exceptionally great treatment. I was in real pain before my check up and Dr Patel was able to identify and rectify the issue. I also have been provided with after care instructions.

I would hardly recommend the practice.

I had a hygienist appointment which was very professional the whole experience was done with out any discomfort. both the hygienist and assistant were lovely and made me feel very relaxed. I would definitely recommend this dentist all the staff are friendly and helpful. They genuinely want to give you the best care. I would definitely recommend this practice.

As a family, my husband, daughters & I have been looked after by Dipesh, Jiga & the team at Bedfont Green for nearly 20 years. The dental care we have received during that time is exceptional; all receiving an individualised experience that is right for us. Bedfont Green truly cares about the whole person, this is not a corporately run machine, it is made up of human beings; dental care professionals who have a passion for ensuring our mouths remains healthy throughout our lives.

We continue to travel from Guildford to Bedfont as we know we will not find the level of care we receive anywhere else.

We have all experienced the challenges that have come with the pandemic; & know Dipesh, Jiga & the team are no different & they have stepped up to the challenge, transformed how they operate to embrace the changes required & meet us with a smile (through their masks!), every time we go there.

Thank you to the whole team - we applaud you all & when we can hug you again - it will be an almighty squeeze!

Tracy, Tony, Daisy & Charlie 🙏💛✨
